Townhouse development gets the thumbs-up Posted by Danny Tan 23 Aug 2015 A TEENAGER has called for townhouses to be given more public space in the hope of creating more affordable and clean housing. Last Sunday the Planning Board approved the first phase of a proposed townhouse development on Tin Yip Road (Jalan Resideni Datok Kapok) with backyards but no open space, which was criticised by the resident. The development is part of a housing project called Nuralambar (meaning 'poised for progress') by a group of property agencies, which is due for completion in 2018. 19 townhouses with a total of 242 flats will be built on the site, which is currently occupied by a five-storey block of commercial flats. A pre-purchase agreement (PPA) was signed last August for the 16 townhouses, with an initial price of $860,000 for each unit, but just six of them were sold. The remaining 16 units will be made available for selling through real estate agency Panjim Development Corporation Limited. The proposed housing units are simple, six-storey blocks with concrete walls and 10-metre wide superhighways at the front. Developers proposed to incorporate more veranda space for the residents to enjoy the fresh air from the backyards. Residents living in six-storey blocks will also be able to enjoy the benefit from the verandas. The developers will also consider making use of the net facade (a part of the front wall that is designed to give fresh air into the 3ef4e8ef8d
