162e9f19a99. Mutation of KSHV miRNAs in Kaposi's sarcoma reveals a significant role for miR-K12-11 and miR-K12-9. Kaposi's sarcomaassociated herpesvirus (KSHV) is etiologically associated with two distinct human cancers: Kaposi's sarcoma (KS) and primary effusion lymphoma (PEL). KSHV miRNA abundance is differentially regulated

in KS as compared to the closely related and restricted PEL. We used a cell-based screen for KSHV-specific miRNAs, as well as data available in the literature, to define the functions of KSHV miRNAs in KS. Using RT-PCR, we screened a panel of KSHV-positive KS cell lines for KSHV-specific miRNA expression. We identified two cellular miRNAs, miR-K12-9 and miR-K12-11, as being significantly downregulated in PEL as compared to KS-derived cell lines. We identified KSHV miR-K12-9 and miR-K12-11 target genes in silico and validated target genes of miR-K12-11 in KS cell lines. Using complementary approaches, we demonstrate that KSHV miR-K12-9/11 and cellular miR-K12-9/11 targets are expressed in primary KS tumor specimens. Finally, we observed elevated expression of KSHV miR-K12-9 and miR-K12-11 in primary KS lesion tissue. Our data indicate that miR-K12-9 and miR-K12-11 specifically regulate the expression of genes that are of potential value for the pathogenesis of KS.. Andrew was heartbroken to see how far she'd fallen. "You're not better than me. I'm still your brother!"

---

She tried to push him away from her, but he held onto her as tightly as he could. “Bastard,” she whispered, pained. “You are not my brother!”
